

ELANOR GROWS WHERE SHADOWS ARE

9/11/2002

Sean Astin is approached after a speech promoting community service during the 9/11 memorial service in Washington, DC.

He is asked if he would be interested in participating in a charitable event where a children's reading garden would be planted. It would be called:

PROJECT ELANOR

LEARN MORE BY WATCHING THIS VIDEO successful.

The leader of the cult, once all the Bagenders eventually left, would go on to start a new Harry Potter themed cult that sadly was quite events.

forced to sleep on filthy floors due to lies surrounding one of their many disastrous

$10,000. Several actors from the film would be and volunteers over time, losing one over to manipulate more celebrities, businesses,

Bit Of Earth and the BagEnders would attempt

THIS IS BUT A FRACTION OF THE TALE

IT WAS THE PERFECT TRAP

They knew of Sean's long relationship with campaigning for children's literacy. He had just given a speech discussing how important volunteering was.

To top it all off, they named the project

after Elanor Gamgee,

the character Sean's daughter played in the movies he starred in.

and eventually rotted away and was removed. finished. The cedar deck was never waterproofed, in one day, volunteers would return until it was While construction was unable to be completed course being channeled by Andy.

plans designed by Samwise Gamgee himself, of the rest of the garden was built according to the with deck building plans to follow. Outside of this, volunteer had to go buy a book had been misplaced. Twice. So one garden. Plans for the cedar deck work, fighting against loads of rain store bought plaster, so his hand would heal.

him know how to put the cast on himself, made of not tell Sean that he had channeled an elf to help his arm, making him unable to work. Andy did

Blake had suffered an "injury" and had a cast on

Sean Astin showed up only to find that Andy

This "charitable organization" begun as a Yahoo Group "the first and best fan club for Samwise

Gamgee," before getting a full fledged website. It was called:

What was a forum for fans and a place for posting fanfic would spiral disastrously out of control due to its founder: ANDY BLAKE characters from Tolkien's world. out to being able to channel the spirits of all and his lifetime of memories. This would expand soul's soul of Merry's and receiving all of Merry's the Rings, starting by receiving all of Merry's of Lord of By accessing "The Mindhole," he was able to fully

"My master says the surge of interest in Tolkien's Middle Earth has created a huge explosion of creative energy... That energy has been directed so strongly towards the ideas of Elves and Ents and such that the real star-spirits and tree-spirits are reacting to it, reaching out in return."

- O RANGERLOSSOM BRAMBLEBURK

Tolkien thought he was writing fiction, but Andy knew he was chronicling REAL HISTORY.

The saga of The One Ring truly happened, forgotten only after Eldar left Middle Earth and took with them all remnants of magic from the world of Men. Unknowingly, Tolkien became attuned to the spiritual emanations of the elves in Valinor and was receiving their memories. Now, Andy believed he was too.

"I am trying unsuccessfully to deal with the sudden dump of over 100 years of crystal-clear memories from the sort of life that would keep a shrink happy for a millennia. I no longer speak in English, and no one else currently living speaks the language I think in now."

- Andy Blake